

CURRICULUM VITAE

Max Fabiani

- 1865 born in Kobdilj near Štanjel (San Daniele sul Carso)
- 1883 school-graduation examination at the Realschule in Ljubljana/Laibach
- 1883–1885 study of architecture at the Technische Hochschule in Vienna
- 1885 first state examination
- 1885/1886 military service
- 1886–1889 second phase of the study of architecture at the Technische Hochschule in Vienna
- 1890–1892 assistant at the Chair of Architecture of the Technische Hochschule in Graz under Professor Richard Edl. von Löwe
- 1892 degree, with the title “diploma architect”
- 1892/93 a travel scholarship from the Ghega Foundation of the Austrian Association of Engineers and Architects (ÖIAV) for the TH Vienna enables him to undertake study trips to Greece, Asia Minor, Italy, Germany, France, Belgium and England
- 1894 Fabiani organises an exhibition of his travel sketches in the ÖIAV
- 1896–1910 worked in the studio of Otto Wagner
- 1896–1910 assistant at the Chair for Composition at the Technische Hochschule in Vienna under Professor Karl König
- 1896–1917 own studio in Vienna
- 1902 doctorate in technical sciences at the Technische Hochschule in Vienna, Fabiani was the first Viennese architect with a doctorate
- 1904–1907 chairman of the competition commission of the ÖIAV
- 1910–1917 associate Professor for Ornament and Interior Decoration at the Technische Hochschule in Vienna
- 1914 called up for military service
- 1917 named Professor for Architectural Composition (according to the Architects Lexicon a professorship at the TH, which Fabiani, however, did not take up)
- 1917–1922 head of the office for reconstruction in Görz (Gorizia, Gorica)
- 1918–1962 own studio in Görz
- 1924–1927 lectures in art history at the Lyzeum Viktor Emanuel III in Görz
- 1924–1945 Secretary of the Chamber of Engineers and Architects in Görz
- 1925–1958 member of the Italian commission for church art
- 1927–1931 member of the state board of directors of the Chamber of Engineers and Architects in Rome
- 1935–1945 Mayor of Štanjel/San Daniele sul Carso
- 1938–1962 honorary inspector for monument conservation for the Province of Görz

1947 finally moved his place of residence to Görz

1952 the Technische Hochschule in Vienna awards him the Gold Doctoral Diploma in Technical Sciences
(at the same time as Plečnik)

1962 dies in Görz and is buried there

1984 in accordance with his wishes his mortal remains are laid to rest in the Fabiani family crypt in the cemetery of St. Gregory in Kobdilj